

NC Case Decision Summary/Initial Case Plan

Instructions for the Structured Investigative Assessment Case Decision Process

Determining whether a child is abused, neglected, or dependent requires careful assessment of all the information obtained during the investigative process. In making a case decision it is important to assess not only that maltreatment has occurred, but what are the current safety issues, and is there future risk of harm and the need for protection. The following questions should provide the structure for making a case decision:

1. Has the maltreatment occurred with frequency and/or is the maltreatment severe?
2. Are there current safety issues? Would the child be unsafe in the home where the abuse, neglect or dependency occurred?
3. Is the child at risk of future harm?
4. Is the child in need of protection?

To make a case decision to substantiate a child for abuse, neglect, and/or dependency, the answer to one or more of the above questions must be yes, and there must be documentation to support the answers included on the case decision tool. Only in unusual circumstances should a supervisor and staffing team override the structured case decision process either to substantiate or to unsubstantiate.

Note: In determining severity of maltreatment, consideration should be given to the degree of harm, level of severity, extent of injury, egregiousness, gravity and the seriousness of maltreatment.

If the decision of the Safety Assessment is safe, and the findings of the Risk Assessment and the Family Assessment of Strengths and Needs are both low, then the case would be unsubstantiated, unless there is an unusual circumstance that would warrant a substantiation.

Note:

In cases where poverty is the sole factor of the maltreatment and services were offered and accepted by the parent/caretaker, the case decision should be to unsubstantiate, unless there are unusual circumstances that would warrant a substantiation. In cases when poverty is the sole factor of the maltreatment, and there is an ongoing history/pattern of services being offered and declined and the pattern of maltreatment continues, it would be appropriate to substantiate if the answers to the above four questions are “yes, unless there are unusual circumstances that would warrant an unsubstantiation.

Note:

This form also serves as the Initial Case Plan.

FAMILY STRENGTHS and NEEDS ASSESSMENT

SUMMARY:

The Family Strengths and Needs Assessment Summary serves as the Initial Case Plan and should detail the needs and the activities intended to prevent foster care placement of child for whom, absent effective preventive services, the plan would be removal from the home. This plan is used only when children remain in their own home and shall be in effect no longer than 30 days while the Family Services Case Plan; Part A; Service Agreements is being developed with the family.
